

Contents

- Michael Shortland Powers of recall: Sigmund Freud's partiality for the prehistoric
- Jennifer A. McDonell The exhibit: Robert Browning's The Ring and the Book and nineteenth-century archaeology
- Penny Russell In search of woman's place: an historical survey of gender and space in nineteenth-century Australia
- Jane Lydon Archaeology in The Rocks, Sydney, 1979–1993: from Old Sydney Gaol to Mrs Lewis' Boarding House
- Joanna Capon Decorative plasterwork in New South Wales, 1800–1939
- Edward Higginbotham The 1828 census and the analysis of rural settlement in New South Wales
- Eve Stenning Nothing but gum trees: textile manufacturing in New South Wales, 1788–1850
- Monte C.A. Woodhouse Elements of a pastoral landscape: Holowiliena, South Australia, in 1888
- Michael Pearson The good oil: eucalyptus oil distilleries in Australia
- Katrina Proust Public archaeology and the physical legacy of European colonisation in South East Asia
- Laurence Gross Industrial heritage and deindustrialisation: the challenge of our future
- Jonathan Barlow Archaeology and belief in the Roman world: an iconoclast's approach
- Sybil Jack Divorce or reconciliation: history and historical archaeology
- R. Ian Jack Historical archaeology and the historian
- David Carment Archaeology and history in central Australia
- Susan Marsden What's wrong with the twentieth century?
- Book Reviews